Re: P3A Recommendation for 3PPO-RFP-0314-20-TPG

Dear engineer Colón and mister Lugo:

Hereby, we confirm that this afternoon, we received your letter ("P3A May 2 Letter") regarding the P3A Recommendation for 3PPO-RFP-0314-20-TPG. Attached to your letter, we received the P3A Initial Report – Evaluation and Agreement of Recommendation of Proposals for 3PPO-RFP-0314-20-TPG ("P3A Initial Report"). The P3A May 2 Letter notes that P3A adopted the Third-Party Procurement Office's evaluation and recommendations regarding the proposals received in response to RFP No. 3PPO-RFP-0314-20-TPG.

The P3A Initial Report states that the RFP Evaluation Committee ("EC") concluded that two of the seven proposals received during the RFP process qualify as a solution for the lack of generation. Furthermore, the EC determined that the companies that presented these two proposals are the preferred proponents. Finally, the P3A Initial Report states:

> "…Based on the EC's evaluation, and if PREPA has no questions or concerns regarding the summarized process above, P3A recommends extending contracts to the above proponents.

> Notwithstanding, during the contract negotiation process, the 3PPO on behalf of PREPA may explore potential cost-saving strategies and alternatives to approach project execution in the benefit of the people of Puerto Rico."

After evaluating P3A Initial Report, we inform you that the information provided in such report is not sufficient for PREPA to determine if it has questions or concerns regarding the selection and recommendation of the EC's preferred proposals. Therefore, to responsibly evaluate the EC's recommendation for RFP No. 3PPO-RFP-0314-20-TPG, PREPA respectfully requests that the P3A send PREPA at least the following documents:

1. RFP's specifications
2. Detailed EC's evaluation report of the seven proposals
3. Copy of the seven proposals
4. Final draft of the proposed contract or contracts

PREPA wants to clarify that we will only use these documents to validate the P3A Initial Report and to get a clear understanding of the contract that PREPA will sign with the preferred proponents. PREPA will not repeat the evaluation performed by the EC, nor will it execute detailed evaluation tasks.

We appreciate your prompt response to our request.

Cordially,

Mary C. Zapata Acosta, PE
